

The charities we are supporting this year are:

High Peak Community Arts, which focusses on providing opportunities for those with the least access to the arts and culture to participate in high quality creative arts projects and believes that the arts can be a tool for change in people's lives.

Blythe House Hospice, which adds quality to life by providing the highest levels of care for people affected by cancer and other life-limiting illnesses, and supporting those who are bereaved.

Buxton Food Bank, which works with individuals in crisis situations in the High Peak area to give them a better future by giving food to prevent immediate hunger, support to sort out the crisis and help with finding jobs so they don't face poverty again (through Zink Employability).

If you would like us to consider supporting a particular local charity in the future, please get in touch.
